REQUEST FOR THE MCNet-SPECIFICATION

The signatory to this request - who has to be named with full name and address where indicated below - (hereinafter referred to as "Customer") orders by sending the original of this request duly signed by the Customer (authorized signature in the case of companies) the MCNet-specification (hereinafter referred to as "MCNet") subject to the following terms and conditions:

- The Customer commits himself to use the MCNet Transport protocol (Transfer Layer, Chapter 3 of the MCNet-specification) without any changes only, in order to reduce variants by unification.

- As long as and as far as the MCNet-transport protocol mentioned before is used without any changes, modifications, extensions or other deviations, the Customer is granted the non-exclusive right to use the patents of Robert Bosch GmbH, Germany, which are related by such use of MCNet.

- MCNet itself is made available to the Customer without charge.

- MCNet is delivered as printed version. An invoice which may be enclosed specifying duplication costs, dispatch costs or any other costs related to the supply of MCNet shall be paid by the Customer within 30 days of receipt.
  On respective request, MCNet can be made available also as electronic version (currently for example as PDF-file). Also in this case, the printed version remains authoritative only. The paragraph before applies accordingly.

- MCNet is supplied without any warranty, guaranty or other liability concerning the freedom from material defects, the fitness for particular purposes or the freedom of proprietary rights of third parties.

- Any liability of Robert Bosch GmbH (hereinafter referred to as "Bosch") and Vector Informatik GmbH (hereinafter referred to as "Vector") arising out of or in connection with the supply of MCNet is excluded. In particular, Bosch and Vector shall not be liable for any damages or losses arising out of the use of MCNet. This does not apply to the liability for damages or losses which are caused willfully by Bosch and/or Vector. Liabilities arising out of mandatory legal regulations, i.e. regulations concerning product liability, are not affected thereby. The Customer shall indemnify and hold Bosch and Vector harmless from and against any liability, claims, demands and expenses for damages or injuries of third parties, unless Bosch and/or Vector are originally liable pursuant to the stipulations before.

- The Customer commits himself not to pass on MCNet to third parties including associated companies of the Customer or to make MCNet otherwise available to third parties. The Customer will refer any third parties interested in MCNet to Robert Bosch GmbH, Dept. K7/ESW, P. 0. Box 77 77 77, 31132 Hildesheim, Federal Republic of Germany, or to Vector Informatik GmbH, Friolzheimer Straße 6, 70499 Stuttgart, Federal Republic of Germany.
